We've been asked to pass along some important information regarding fire safety in your own home. The Tully Hose Company has responded to incidents in the last few months where an extinguisher has kept families from experiencing tragedy. There is no age limit on using a fire extinguisher, and even kids can be trained on how to operate one safely and effectively. Even if you don't expect your children to use an extinguisher themselves, it's nevertheless important to have an extinguisher easily accessible.

It is important to regularly inspect your extinguisher. By conducting routine inspections, you proactively verify that your fire extinguisher is in optimal working condition and poised to handle any potential fire hazard. These inspections not only ensure the immediate availability of a functional extinguisher but also serve as a preventive measure against malfunctions or failures that could lead to devastating consequences.

FIRE EXTINGUISHER INSPECTION

Home fire extinguishers should be checked regularly to help make sure they are ready for use. With proper training and education, fire extinguishers can save lives and property.

- ◇ Make sure the extinguisher is unconcealed in its designated location.
- ◇ Be sure the tamper seal of the cylinder remains intact and check the cylinder for obvious defects such as a clogged nozzle, leakage, physical damage or corrosion
- ◇ Affirm that both the pressure gauge and indicator are in the operable range of function
- ◇ Confirm that the extinguisher is full, this can be simply done by lifting the extinguisher
- ◇ Verify that the issued instructions on the nameplate are comprehensible and facing outwards
- ◇ Check the condition of the hose, bottle, and nozzle of the extinguishers

5 KEY PLACES TO KEEP FIRE EXTINGUISHERS IN YOUR HOME

1. The Kitchen
The kitchen fire extinguisher should be within 30 feet of the stove so it can be accessed quickly in an emergency. But it shouldn't be installed in the immediate vicinity of the stove, where smoke and flames could block access.
2. Near Sources of Heat
Again, as with cooking equipment, don't keep the extinguisher right next to the source of heat, but a safe distance away.
3. Each Floor of your Home
Keep at least one fire extinguisher on every floor of your home, including the basement and attic, if you have them.
4. The Garage
Garages, workshops, and sheds are typically full of combustible materials, especially things like gas canisters, oils, and cleaning products.
5. The Bedrooms
The majority of fires happen at night, so every bedroom in your house should have easy access to a fire extinguisher—even children's rooms.
